SECTION 2: LAND USE

system; a rectilinear street and block pattern designed with sensitivity to the natural landscape; urban design standards that allow for the compatibility of buildings and other neighborhood features as determined by their arrangement, bulk, form, character and landscaping that aid in establishing livable communities; architecture and landscaping, civic buildings, town squares, village greens, and other public facilities that create a sense of place and community identity, enhancing the City's character; and an attractive streetscape that is oriented toward pedestrian activity but encourages the safe and efficient use of the automobile.

Commercial/Recreation

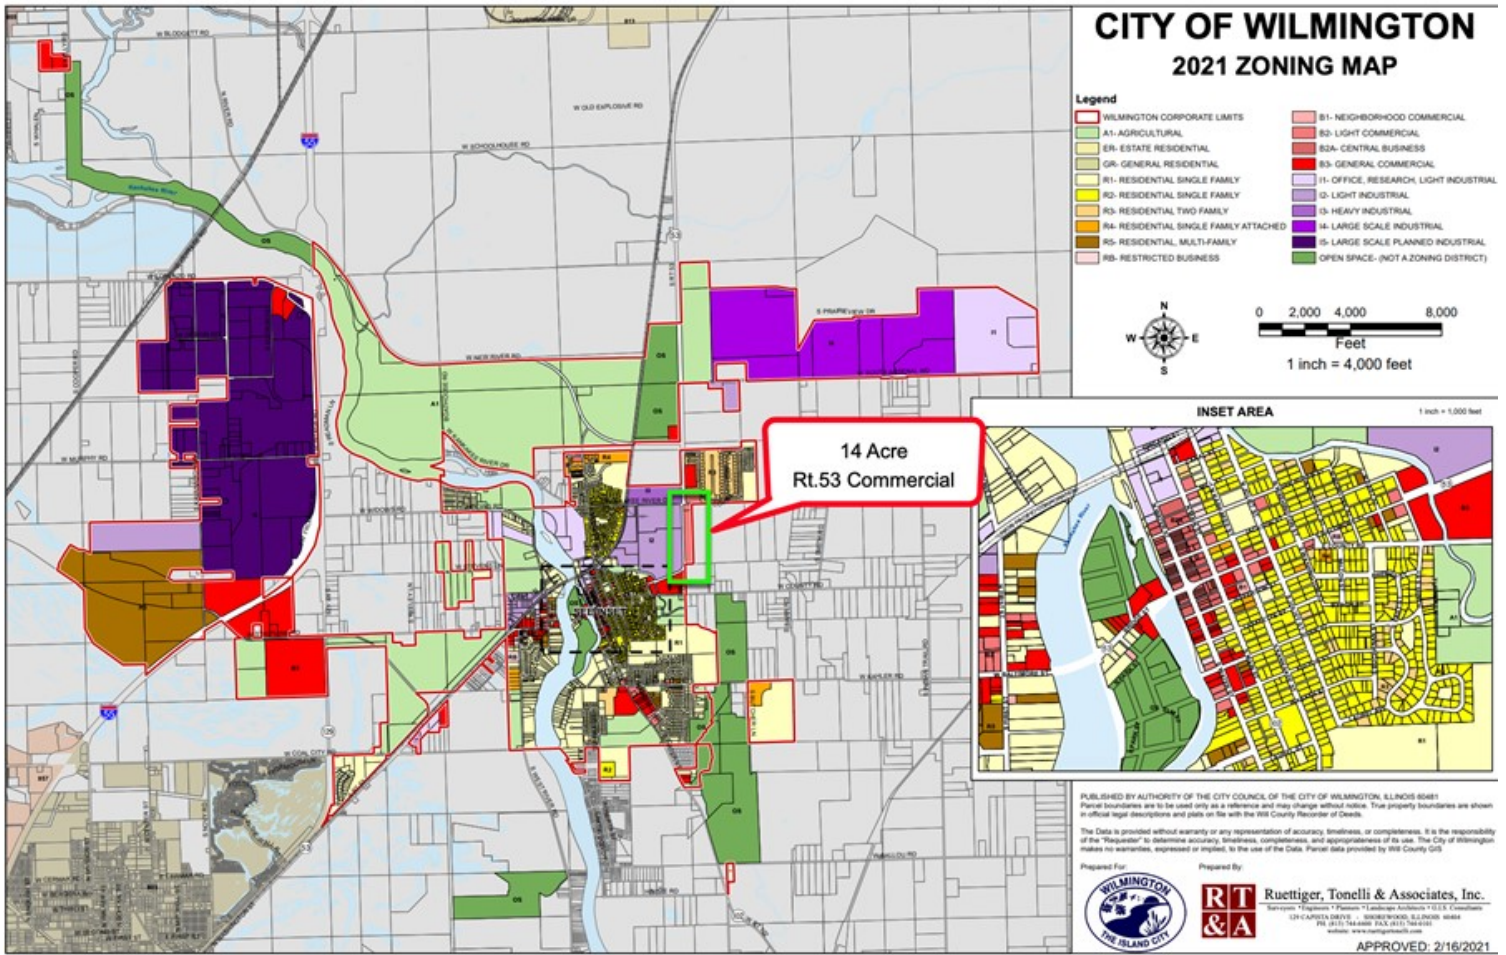

This area represents privately owned and managed open spaces and recreational areas. Permitted uses within this category include those similar in nature to the existing recreational uses within the study area, as well as other innovative active entertainment options or unique venues. These uses will normally require large amounts of land and sufficient buffering from residential areas.

Commercial

The commercial area is designated to provide the services needed for the local and regional residents. The local services can be provided nearby or within residential developments. These commercial uses may be small with little impact to the residential uses. However, to increase the tax base of the community, some commercial uses must be developed which serve the regional customer. These uses are usually larger scale developments which have a larger impact on residents, traffic and public services. Location of such activities should be designed to be compatible with neighboring residential development. Larger scale commercial developments should occur on major transportation routes. Local and neighborhood commercial activities should occur on secondary routes or at strategic node locations.
